Re: Phil D. Wright

Dear Dr. Green:

I was happy to see Mr. Wright in the office on 9/6/85. He related he had sustained an injury to his right wrist in June when he "punched a cow".

Review of the x-rays that he brought down with him did leave some question as to whether there might have been a carponavicular fracture and for this reason I had tomograms performed at St. Mark's which were reported normal. A copy of that report is attached for inclusion in your file.

I did start him on Meclomen 100mg twice a day after meals. I have asked him to limit his activities somewhat and we will see him again in about three weeks.

Very sincerely,

Thomas D. Noonan, M.D.
